

decades. The FIB believes that urgent action to support local businesses and to reopen the economy must be taken.

As the enclosed transition report details, there are several specific actions that can be taken to improve the FIB and its ability to support private foreign investment in Palau. First, the office needs to be modernized and digitized through the acquisition of computer software, the creation of a website, and staff with appropriate training. Second, the Foreign Investment Act needs to be amended in order to remove detrimental restrictions and revise policies that are permitting abuse to occur. Together with amendments to the Foreign Investment Act, certain other labor and immigration laws should also be revised. Third, the Board needs additional resources so that it can engage in appropriate marketing of Palau to the international business community.

The FIB looks forward to working with President-elect Whipps and his Administration to support, diversify, and grow Palau's economy.

Sincerely,

IX. Descriptions of Services, Programs, Tasks, and Activities Provided and/or Performed

The Foreign Investment Board's activities cover the full lifespan of a foreign-owned company that operates in Palau. The Board's involvement begins with receipt of an application for a Foreign Investment Approval Certificate, which is reviewed and granted by the full Board. The Board continues to monitor the operations of foreign-owned enterprises through annual reporting requirements and spot checks by investigators. The Board's investigators also have the statutory authority to conduct interviews and subpoena records. The Board reviews reports from the investigators and, where appropriate, imposes sanctions consistent with the Foreign Investment Act. Finally, when a foreign-owned business ceases operations, the Board is responsible for ensuring all debts to government offices, utility companies, and others on-island are satisfied.

X. Project and Contract Checklists with Critical Dates and Budgets/Costs

The Foreign Investment Board does not currently have any ongoing projects or contracts with external vendors.

XI. Existing Major Agreements and Ongoing or Outstanding Major Negotiations with Foreign Governments and/or Other Internal and External Institutions and Non-Profit Organizations

The Foreign Investment Board does not have any major agreements or ongoing negotiations with foreign governments and/or other internal or external institutions or non-profit organizations.

Earlier this fall, the Board submitted an application to the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) for a technical assistance project. The application seeks assistance with reducing barriers to foreign investment by increasing accessibility to information and modernizing the operations of the Board's office, including through the digitization of records and materials. If the project is approved it will not begin until late in 2021.

Additionally, the Office of the President has agreed to work with a group of graduate students at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government on a Policy Analysis Exercise. The students will be completing a research project to analyze Palau's economy with respect to foreign investment, and to make specific policy recommendations on how to diversify and bolster foreign direct investment in the Republic. The final project should be complete by May 2021.

XII. Immediate, Medium, and Long-Term Challenges, and Concrete and Actionable Solutions, and Recommendations

Challenges

The challenges facing the Foreign Investment Board can be broken into four categories. First, the office requires modernization and digitization. At present, the office operates almost entirely on paper and lacks a centralized document management system. Records are maintained in filing cabinets without backups, and performance data is collected, if at all, in ad hoc Excel spreadsheets and Word documents. The Board no longer maintains a website and does not have the ability to accept applications electronically. This situation makes it harder for potential foreign investors to learn about investing in Palau and to apply for a Foreign Investment Approval Certificate; it makes it harder for the Board to operate efficiently and securely; and it makes it harder to be able to evaluate the Board's operations. Similarly, the lack of a permanent executive director and lack of formal training for staff limits the operational capabilities of the office.

Second, the Board's ability to conduct investigations is hampered by the fact that its investigators have not been permitted to be deputized. As a result, they cannot carry firearms for self-protection, nor perform arrests when they encounter illegal activity.

Instead, the Board is reliant on other law enforcement agencies to provide assistance on an as-needed basis. However, such assistance has not always been forthcoming, and, on more than one occasion, has actually led to investigation targets being tipped off.

Third, the current economic environment in Palau is moribund. The Board has begun to see an increasing number of companies cease operations and leave Palau. Although this is largely a result of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the Board had identified problems with the investment environment prior to the onset of the pandemic. For example, the practical effect of the Foreign Investment Act's restriction on foreign ownership in certain economic activities has led to the use of 'front' businesses and 'consultants', defeating the law's purpose. The Board does not believe that Palau can wait until the pandemic is over in order to take action. It is necessary to find a way to immediately spur new economic activity in order to save what remains of Palau's private sector and to make Palau a more attractive environment for foreign investment, including by amending the Foreign Investment Act.

Fourth, the Board's responsibility for promoting foreign investment in Palau is hampered by a lack of resources and expertise. Palau needs to compete with similar island states around the world. At present, though, the Board does not have a comprehensive plan based on a thorough comparative study of similar agencies in other countries. Moreover, the Board does not have any staff with experience in international marketing for the purpose of attracting foreign direct investment.

Recommendations

- Modernize and Digitize Office Operations; Increase Capabilities with New Staff and Training:
  - Acquire and/or design an e-solution to digitize all records;
  - Acquire and/or design a document management system (DMS) to centralize all investor information;
  - Create a robust, public-facing website featuring all relevant information for potential investors and the ability to accept applications and fee payments online;
  - Aggressively recruit a new executive director and legal counsel, including by looking off-island;
  - Recruit new staff with experience in international marketing;
  - Provide training for existing staff;
  - Increase compensation and ancillary benefits for board members and staff;
- Deputize Investigators;
- Amend the Foreign Investment Act (Title 28, Chapter 1, Palau National Code):
  - Amend 28 PNC § 105 to remove the prohibition on foreign investment and ownership in specific business activities; permit the Board to have

- discretion in granting Foreign Investment Approval Certificates to investors seeking to operate in the currently protected activities;
- Amend 28 PNC § 106(b)(5) to lengthen the time for which an investor cannot transfer ownership (currently only one year);
  - Amend 28 PNC § 106(b)(4) to require that the foreign investor's bank account contain a sufficient deposit (determined by the Board) to provide security for all creditors in the Republic;
  - Amend 28 PNC § 116 to permit the Foreign Investment Board to retain a portion of the fees it collects (including application fees, annual fees, and penalties) in order to cover administrative costs;
  - Repeal 28 PNC § 127 to permit long-established companies in Palau to continue operations;
  - Create a new provision linking lease agreements with Foreign Investment Approval Certificates in order to prevent foreign investors from tying up land without development for an extended period of time;
- Revise labor and immigration laws that, in practice, favor the hiring of foreign workers at the expense of Palauan labor;
  - Revise the Investor Visa rules to reduce the number of individuals permitted to enter Palau per visa and initially award on a provisional basis pending commencement of proposed business operations;
  - Increase incentives for Palauans to stay on-island and work in the private sector;
  - Develop and implement a comprehensive plan for marketing Palau to potential foreign investors;
  - Develop and implement a government-wide policy for the handling of confidential and sensitive personal information;
